

An Exploration of European Foundations in Psychology, Psychiatry & Mental Health

Program Description:

Explore the epicenter of the beginnings of psychology - Europe. Learn about the far-reaching contributions and global influence of Sigmund Freud and his lasting impact on psychology through Psychoanalysis that is real and alive even today. Walk where so many influential others, such as Alfred Adler and Victor Frankl, who shaped psychology have walked, learn about their journey, and imagine what it was like to be on the cusp of helping develop one of the most interesting and popular disciplines in modern culture. Visit palaces, castles, parks, museums and exhibits, and see their significance and relevance from the past and in the present. Psychology is not simply a major or a theory, it is a breathing, living science - see it up close and personal where it all began!
